Kona and Kau Liner Mauna Loa Brings Coffee and Sugar.

Outward Australia's Cargo—Bark Diamond Head to Return—Steamers Lehua and Kilaua Hou Depart.

Raining in Kona, The bark Nuanu is discharging at Brewer's.

The schooner Ka Moi sails for Paunilo tomorrow.

The bark Ceylon sails for Puget Sound next Saturday.

The barkentine S. N. Castle is due from San Francisco.

Steam is up on the government dredger for a renewal of work.

The bark C. D. Bryant is anchored in the stream awaiting sugar.

The steamer Hawaii is on the berth for Honolulu tomorrow morning at ten o'clock.

The bark Diamond Head is chartered to load railroad ties at the Sound for the O. R. & L. Co.

The Australia will carry a fair sized cargo to San Francisco tomorrow. Among the shipments will be 5000 bunches bananas, 3000 bags rice, 8500 bags sugar and a lot of hides and empty beer kegs.

The steamer Mauna Loa was signaled off Molokai shortly after ten o'clock this morning and docked at Fort street wharf about two o'clock this afternoon. She brings the usual produce from Hawaii and a number of passengers.

Captain Clark, the wharfinger in charge of Oceanic dock, asserts that it is through no fault of the steamship company that freight is not delivered earlier than it is from that wharf. The Australia has been unloaded three days and a large quantity of freight is still on the wharf owing to the failure of the draymen to attend to their business.

Charlie Peterson, lookout at Diamond Head, has telephoned in a correction of the item published the other day that the Nuanu was becalmed and drifting within ten miles off Molokai when the tug caught her. He says that the vessel was not far from the Head, certainly not as far as stated. Under date of November 12, Pilot Lorenzen's report reads, "Vessel reported 6:20 a. m., pilot left wharf 3 p. m., time of boarding 5:30 p. m., and off 9:20 p. m."

How the Lines Should Be Marked.

In stores which make a specialty of fine napery orders are taken for the working of letters when the linen is selected, so that it can be sent home in boxes ready for use. One fancier will choose two unpretentious initials placed side by side and worked in plain raised satin stitch. Another chooses larger letters, to be intricately interlaced and elaborately worked with both solid and open laced stitches. Huge ornamental monograms are also conspicuous on napery and bed linen, as well as on tea-cloths. Three letters are a good rule in case of house linen, one for the respective initials of the Christian names of the bride and groom and the third for the family name.

How to Cook Cucumbers a l'Allemande.

Peel and cut 4 cucumbers in half, remove the insides and cut them into inch sized pieces. Place them in saucepan, cover with boiling water and cook ten minutes. Then drain and lay them in cold water. Melt 2 ounces of butter in a saucepan, drain the cucumbers, add them to the butter, season with half a teaspoonful of salt, one-quarter of a teaspoonful of pepper. Toss them for a few minutes over the fire. Add one cupful chicken or veal broth and cover and cook till the cucumbers are done, which will take about 20 minutes. Then mix the yolks of 2 eggs with half a cupful of cream and add them to the cucumbers, stirring for 2 minutes, without letting them boil. Remove, add a teaspoonful of fine chopped parsley and serve. Cucumbers may be stuffed or served with bechamel or horseradish sauce, but they should always first be parboiled.

How to Make Scalloped Eggs.

Place a layer of stale bread crumbers crackers in the bottom of a buttered baking dish. Pour over this enough cream or rich sweet milk to moisten. Break over this 3 or 4 fresh eggs, pricking the yolks to break them. Put on another layer of crumbs, cream and bits of butter, and a layer of sliced cold boiled eggs; over that a layer of the crackers, with plenty of butter, cream and some salt and pepper, which should be sprinkled over every layer. Bake half an hour in a hot oven.

NOTES AT EWA.

Next Season's Crop—Various Economies in Mill.

Ewa mill will begin grinding about the 15th of December. A quantity of fourths from the past season is now being run through the centrifugals.

By the installation of a condensing tank for exhaust steam last season two boilers were saved. The coming season the sediment of the mud presses will be diluted and worked over, so that not a fraction of percentage of sugar will be thrown away.

If 18,000 tons be produced this year the plantation will do well. That would be three thousand tons more than last year.

Ewa mill has the appearance of a considerable railway center, with its several locomotives in the shed waiting for orders, and Oahu railway trains passing at intervals.

Some of the fields makai of the mill show magnificent cane, promising from nine to twelve tons to the acre.

Mr. O'Dowda, Ewa's sugar boiler, is a jewel. Many of the economies in the mill are his making, and Manager Lowrie well appreciates the value of having such a position filled by a man who is continually studying the interests of his employers.

The public square opposite the station is now looking beautiful. Its varied trees have come on well, and the flower beds and grass are bright and fresh.

When Chas. M. Cooke saw the coming fine effects in the square, he requested the manager to fence in the lots of the Portuguese laborers. This being done the occupants found it worth their while to cultivate their little plots. The result is seen in beautiful gardens of fruit and flowers fronting on the lanes.

An old Portuguese, who is caretaker of the Roman Catholic chapel and grounds, is an accomplished linguist. He speaks about all of the European tongues with fluency, and is a polished scholar in general attainments.

Most of the planting and cultivation of cane on Ewa is done on the new share system. It works well, as a rule, for both sides. Some of the laborers have made about double the labor contract rate of wages. A few have not come up to that rate, for reasons of an exceptional nature.

The social hall, situated in Scandinavia row, is to have an addition made by the "boys," which will double the size of the building.

THE GOVERNMENT AUCTION.

Attorney General Smith Does Not Look for Any Interference.

"There will be no interference with the sale of property belonging to the late monarchy and advertised by Jas. A. Morgan for Thursday next at 10 o'clock," said Attorney General Smith today, "and those who predict it are not aware of the facts connected with it."

"In the first place when Kalakaua died Dr. Trouessart was appointed his administrator. He had so much difficulty in determining what personal property of the deceased king rightfully belonged to his widow and what should go to Liliuokalani that he appealed to the Courts, and the matter was finally decided by the selection of a commission to assist the doctor. This was composed of James W. Robertson on behalf of Liliuokalani and Cecil Brown for Kapiolani. These gentlemen went over the inventory with Dr. Trouessart and the property was amicably appraised."

"Again, after the Provisional Government came into power and previous to the first sale of these articles, the Dowager Queen was again notified to send her representative to examine the list and see if there were any articles she claimed or particularly cherished as heirlooms. She did so and quite a number of articles selected by her were given to her without question. It is rather late to question the government's title to these articles in view of former action in the case," concluded Mr. Smith.

Depositors in the Postal Savings Bank are requested to send in their books on or before December 20 for the addition of interest.

MINIATURE YACHT RACING.

Regatta in Harbor This Morning in Honor of Kalakaua's Birthday.

Kalakaua's birthday was observed on the waterfront today in the way of the annual regatta of miniature yachts. Prince Jonah Kalaniana'ole entered two; Prince David Kawanakoa, one; Mahuka, one; Alex. Smith, one; Suki (Japanese), one, and Kanai, one.

The course lay out the channel and the racing continued until about 12:30 p. m. All boats measuring over 40 inches at the water line were handicapped. This afternoon a reception and luau is being held at Honuakaha in honor of the day.

The Anchor.

P. T. Ryan still continues in charge of the Anchor and is ably assisted by William Carlyle. At the Anchor, Seattle beer on draught can always be had as well as the best brands of whiskeys, etc., including John Dewar's Scotch whisky. A full stock of other liquors, wines, etc., is kept on hand also.

Pure Milk and Fresh Eggs.

What is nicer and more refreshing than a fresh egg shaken up with pure milk, shaved ice and flavored to suit your taste with fresh syrups; invest 10c. and try one. Also shake made with pure milk and any desired flavor 5c.
